

for the city was tabled, on motion of Mr. Ellett, and on motion of the same member the resolution providing free street car tickets for members of the Council, it was offered originally by Mr. Ellett.

The resolution provides one hundred street car tickets per month for each member of both branches of the Council. It was offered originally by Mr. Ellett.

Vestry Wins Out.
Mr. Hicks moved to reconsider the vote by which the proposition to increase the police force was lost, and his motion was supported by Mr. Pollock and Mr. Ellett, and opposed by Mr. Mills. The motion to reconsider prevailed—yeas, 21; nays, 7, and the ordinance was again rejected—yeas, 21; nays, 7.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks grew eloquent in describing the old church, and he declared that not a nail should be drawn from the structure, and that if it were done his remains would be disinterred and taken to Lexington.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Hicks spoke for the minority of the congregation and against the report of the committee. He declared that he should not have been a member of the committee, because he did not believe the city had anything to do with the matter.

"Oceans are short lived."—Edith Wharton.

Don't miss your chance, you may never have another opportunity as favorable. Now is the time. The summer is going and our stock must go with it. Here are 88 slow moving suits for quick moving men—price now $9.75 (was $13 to $18)—your size is here now, if you wear 46 or under.

GREAT SHIRT SALE.
We've about 200 dozen of the latest designs in Manhattan negligee shirts—fancy colorings. Here's the new price list.

At the $1.50 Manhattans, $1.45 for the $2.50 and $2.00 Manhattans. $2.45 for the $3.50 and $3.00 Manhattans.

O. H. BERRY & CO.
MEN & BOYS' OUTFITTERS.

WILL WELCOME THE ENGINEERS
(Continued from First Page.)

great interest, and will in all probability be the contest of the convention. Philadelphia, Louisville, Detroit and Kansas City have sent instructions delegations here to vote for their respective towns. It is thought that the real fight will be between Louisville and Philadelphia.

The following is today's programme:

9 A. M.—Delegates and guests will start from Murphy's Hotel for a short parade, arriving at 10:30 A. M. at the Hotel.

10:30 A. M.—Traverse by Right Rev. Bishop Van de Vyver.

Introductory address by Charles Devos, chairman local committee.

Welcome to Virginia—Address by Colonel George Wayne Anderson.

Response by R. G. Ingelson, past national president.

Welcome to Richmond—Address by Hon. R. M. Taylor, Mayor.

Response by P. J. Hogan, national president.

Welcome in behalf of Confederate veterans, by Hon. J. Taylor Stratton.

Address by W. J. McCarthy, "The American Artist."

Response by Charles H. Garlick, past national president.

Formal opening of the convention by National President P. J. Hogan.

2 P. M.—Meeting for ladies' guests to points of interest. Special cars will leave Murphy's Hotel at 2 o'clock sharp. Refreshments will be served en route.

2:30 P. M.—Session of convention, Bijou Theatre.

2:45 P. M.—Opening of exhibition, Seventeenth Regiment Armory, corner of Seventh and Marshall Streets.

Address by Charles F. Hart, national vice-president.

Music by Jardella's Band.

2 P. M.—Entertainment in exhibit hall—J. W. Armstrong, J. M. Wilson, F. J. Corbett, J. McKenna, J. Adams.

Music by Jardella's Band.

2 P. M.—Entertainment in exhibit hall—J. W. Armstrong, J. M. Wilson, F. J. Corbett, J. McKenna, J. Adams.

2 P. M.—Entertainment in exhibit hall—J. W. Armstrong, J. M. Wilson, F. J. Corbett, J. McKenna, J. Adams.

2 P. M.—Entertainment in exhibit hall—J. W. Armstrong, J. M. Wilson, F. J. Corbett, J. McKenna, J. Adams.

2 P. M.—Entertainment in exhibit hall—J. W. Armstrong, J. M. Wilson, F. J. Corbett, J. McKenna, J. Adams.

A DAY OF SHUT-OUTS

Pittsburg, St. Louis, Cleveland, All Fail to Score Single Run.

BENDER'S CLEVER PITCHING

Griffith Knocked Out of the Box by Detroit in Three Innings.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Sunday's Scores.
Pittsburg, 8; Cincinnati, 1.
Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.

Scores Yesterday.
New York-Philadelphia—rain.
Brooklyn-Boston—rain.
Pittsburg, 4; Chicago, 3.

Where They Play To-day.
Pittsburg at Brooklyn.
Chicago at New York.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.
(Two games.)
St. Louis at Boston.

Standing of the Clubs.

Clubs	Won	Lost	P. C.
New York	52	33	.612
Chicago	53	34	.609
Cincinnati	52	37	.584
Pittsburg	59	36	.618
St. Louis	47	44	.515
Boston	33	57	.367
Brooklyn	32	59	.352
Philadelphia	22	63	.259

Pittsburg, 4; Chicago, 3.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Where They Play Monday.
Pittsburg at Brooklyn.
Chicago at New York.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.
(Two games.)
St. Louis at Boston.

Standing of the Clubs.

Clubs	Won	Lost	P. C.
New York	52	33	.612
Chicago	53	34	.609
Cincinnati	52	37	.584
Pittsburg	59	36	.618
St. Louis	47	44	.515
Boston	33	57	.367
Brooklyn	32	59	.352
Philadelphia	22	63	.259

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 5.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

Chicago, 4; Washington, 2.
PITTSBURG, Pa., August 1.—Errors gave Pittsburg two runs, and with brilliant fielding the home team prevented Chicago's scoring.

WILL REACH JURY TO-DAY

(Continued from First Page.)

asked him, "Did you see him with the pistol?"

George Williams, colored, testified that he was with Goode and Johnson on the same Monday night. He said Goode came out of a house on Second Street, and together they went to look for Mr. George Roberts, boss in Larus's factory, whom they could find and then to see Mr. C. D. Larus, Sr., Goode asked for a scrap, was given fifty cents, then went to a bar, got a half pint of whiskey, then went to Third and Marshall streets where they shot and killed. He said he had twelve cartridges, one for every man.

Commonwealth's Attorney: Did you see and cartridges?

Witness: Yes, sir.

Q. What was he said to tell Johnson to bring him some tobacco, and to bring him some cartridges; thirty-eight.

Question by juryman: Did you see him have a pistol?

Yes, sir, and added, "It was a trouble. Williams replied that they had a little trouble, 'some words.' About six or eight, but had 'some words' together that night. Williams replied that they told the officers where Goode was that he was going to kill Johnson, Bolling and himself.

Goode testified that he heard Goode talking at the jail on the morning after he was captured. Goode said that the reason he was backing out of the house was to keep the detectives from coming out on him from the window or hall.

Story of the Capture.
Policeman J. F. Wiley told about the capture of the prisoner. Goode told him he was shot in the leg down there on Second Street, and added, "It was a wonder he didn't get shot all to pieces that night." He denied shooting Captain Shilberger.

Goode's pistol was produced in court; Williams explained that the pistol had been fully loaded, but that he had allowed the coroner to have one of the balls for the purpose of examination.

Mr. W. D. Mills, constable of Henrico, told the story of the capture. He told of the conversation between Williams and Goode. He said a man in a crowd asked Goode why he had stayed around where he was captured, instead of going away, and Goode answered: "Well, sir, you know that fifteen or twenty years ago, when I was a boy, there the other night, that shooting up there, he blocked, and I couldn't get away."

"Asked about his capture, Goode said: 'If I could run, I would run; but if I had my gun, I would shoot.'"

After the cross-examination of Mr. Mills, the Commonwealth rested its case. The court was then at 1:30 P. M. adjourned till 4 P. M.

The jury was taken to the scene of the crime, accompanied by Judge Witt, the Commonwealth's attorney and the counsel for the defense. The prisoner, also, was carried to the scene. On arriving there the jury closely inspected the room, paying particular attention to the room where Sergeant Gibson was killed. He fired and the bullet-marks in the wall and on the fence. The planks were replaced that they might examine the latter marks. The alleged bullet-marks on the walls of the church in rear of the house were examined also, some of the iron climbing into the roof.

After finishing their inspection of the premises they were driven back to their hotel.

The Prisoner's Side.
The prisoner, James Goode, was called to the stand when the afternoon session opened and gave a short history of his life since he came to Richmond. He stated that he had been sent to the penitentiary for burglary, but had been released in 1902, having served about half his term, and being released for good behavior. Immediately after leaving prison he went to the house of C. D. Larus and Bro. where he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

"Thursday evening," he went on, "I saw a crowd of men on the corner, and sent a man back to see who they were. He came back and told me they were the police. Then somebody came up the steps and came by the back room where I was. He told her to make a light. He was standing near the door that leads to the front room. He hollered, 'Who's that?' and I jumped out of the window."

He said he had been sent to a house on Second Street, where he stayed till Thursday evening.

A Card to the Public and My Friends in Particular:
In future I will be glad to have you call at my new location,
311 East Broad Street.

I HAVE CONNECTED MYSELF

with the

ECONOMY SHOE STORE,

And I Promise to Take Good Care of You.

After a personal inspection of the stock I can cheerfully recommend the same, and will add that several new things will be added, which my experience of fifteen years will prove of benefit to particular people. Soliciting a call.

I am, respectfully,

HORACE G. BROWN,

Formerly Spicer & Brown.

as to his capture, but stuck to his story. He said that what he meant by the 'shooting up there' in his talk to Mr. Mills was the shooting of Richard Fox.

Saw the Flash.
Bessie St. Clair, an old colored woman, who lives next to the house where Captain Shilberger was shot, was asked to tell all she knew of the crime. She said she saw a flash, and the words 'look out,' and went to the window. She saw the three flashes, which seemed to come from the kitchen window next door.

On cross-examination, she said she saw the flash through two or three broken shutters in the blind. Mr. Richardson asked if she was able to see through that small space, on a line with the other house, and could tell exactly where the shots came from; and witness replied emphatically, "yes, sir." She saw no shots in the yard.

Johnny Glasgow, a small ruffian, testified to finding a cartridge near the back gate of the yard. He was not cross-examined.

Mr. Pollock, clerk to the chief of police, was called and asked if the report of the coroner's inquest was signed by him. He said it was, and in the affirmative. He was then asked if the report of Sergeant Gibson's testimony was correct, and answered that, too affirmatively.

Bessie St. Clair, a young negress, said she had found some cartridges near the gate, but had seen nothing of the inspector's pistol.

Margaret Lee, colored, lives downstairs at the house where the shooting occurred.

Mr. Attorney Sanders, Mr. Stockman testified that he saw the man in the yard by means of a clothes line in a different position from which it is now. Have you changed your clothes line since that time?

Witness: "No, sir." She said she heard the shooting upstairs, and some other firing she couldn't locate.